A Norfolk Regatta [at Blakeney]

Oil on board, signed
16 x 20ins

It shows The Blakeney Regatta from west of the entrance to Morston Creek looking west with the seaward end of Wells harbour on the horizon. The group of Racing Committee/spectator craft are moored just off where Stiffkey Creek enters the harbour proper. The wind seems to be a moderate south-easterly, and the majority of the yachts appear to be beating back towards the inner harbour, probably carrying the last of a flood tide, this tidal flow is indicated by the angle of the small black conical buoy.
